

Learning Communities Monthly

Happy November!

I hope you are all enjoying fall in Michigan. I am back on campus after recovering from my injury and looking forward to seeing you all on campus. November is a busy month for the LC Program!

On Friday, November 4, I am hosting a presentation at the first Student Learning in Assessment (SLAM) Consortium, where I will be presenting on how “Learning Communities Can Be HIP: Co-curricular Assessment of High Impact Practices in LCs at Wayne State University”.

During the week of November 7-11, I will be scheduling meetings with each LC to discuss your assessment plans and get everyone ready for the end of semester assessment surveys and reporting. Keep an eye out for an email request for this meeting with me.

The National Learning Community Conference (NLCC) will take place November 17-20 in Phoenix, Arizona. The WSU Learning Community program will be very well represented, with four presentations highlighting the CHAMPS LC, the MPREP LC, and our LC Program assessment. We will report back with highlights in December.

A reminder that a virtual option for the NLCC is available, with synchronous sessions happening on Monday, November 28. You can find more information here: <https://www.cgc.edu/campaign/virtual-track>

If you are interested in connecting with other LC colleagues from across the country, please consider becoming a member of the National Learning Communities Association (NLCA). Membership is free. The NLCA hosts monthly workshops, virtual happy hours, LC short talks and twice-annual member meetings. There are also opportunities to be a part of the NLCA Council or to take part in NLCA committee work. Join the NLCA here: lcassociation.org/

On Thursday, December 1, the LC Program will host drop-in hours from 11:00am-1:00pm in the Academic Success Center Computer Lab (suite 1600 UGL). We will be available to answer questions, talk LC challenges and brainstorming. We will have light refreshments. Feel free to stop by and encourage your Peer Mentors to join us as well.

Yours in community,
Amy Cooper
