The Sport Management first-year interest group is designed for students to build stronger connections to peers within their major. Students work closely with a peer mentor, faculty and coordinators/advisors, who create activities and experiences outside the classroom that support learning inside the classroom.

How it works

This group will include 24 first-year students who will take a cluster of classes together supporting their major in Sport Management.

- Complete your Wayne Experience (WE) course — a first-year requirement — as part of your interest group block.
- Other classes in your block count toward your major and general education requirements.
- Choose one or two additional courses to add to your block to reach full-time status (at least 12 credit hours).
- Enjoy the benefits of a built-in support network from the first day of classes.

What are the courses

The block includes the following courses (11 credits):

- KHS 1010: Wellness at Wayne (1 credit)
- SAM 2020: History of Sport (3 credits)
- ENG 1020: Intro College Writing (3 credits)
- PSY 1010: Introductory Psychology (4 credits)

How to join
